Episode 41: Doing it by the book
第41集：照书本上说的做
健康安全政策的用语

- Narrator: 欢迎回到我们的节目，Tom 想抓只老鼠，结果不小心不小心摔了一跤。Anna 能帮他止痛吗？ Let's find out.
- Tom: Ooo...oww...ouch. My arm really hurts.
- Paul: (Door opens) What's all this noise about?
- Denise: It's Tom. He's had an accident – tripped over a mouse – I mean tripped over trying to catch a mouse.
- Paul: Golly gosh. Are you OK Tom?
- Tom: I dunno. I think I've broken something.
- Denise: Your pencil I think! Just sit there at my desk and I'll go and call a first-aider.
- Paul: Anna, you're going to fill in one of those Health and Safety reports.
- Anna: Oh really? Do we have to?
- Paul: It's procedure and it's the law – it's got to be done. Now Tom, would a biscuit make you feel better?
- Narrator: 健康和安全措施在公司里可是很重要的。办公室一定要安全，不过意外也难免不会发生。如果发生了意外，那么你就有责任向公司汇报。Anna, 你知道相关表格在哪里吗？
- Anna: (Typing on computer) I think so. It's here on the company intranet...here it is, 'Incident report form'.
- Narrator: 对了，有时候这份表格叫作“意外事故汇报”。里面会问“How did the accident happen?” – 事故是怎么发生的？，“What was the cause of the accident?” – 原因是什么，“Were there any injuries?” – 有人受伤了吗？伤势如何？还有“How could the accident have been avoided?” – 怎样防止类似事故的发生？
- Anna: OK, I had better get started.
- Denise: (putting phone down) Right, the first-aider will be here in ten minutes. Do you need a hand with this form Anna?
- Anna: Yes please Denise. It wants to know how the accident happened.

Denise: Just say there was a mouse...no, a large rat...running about that needed catching. And Tom, very bravely, tried to catch it

Anna: (Typing) Yes...and then he tripped over something.

Denise: Was it your shoe laces Tom?

Tom: Err? Ouch! No, it was a sample box of Perfect Peaches...ooo, ouch.

Denise: So, the cause of the accident was a box of Perfect Peaches left on the floor. Who left them there anyway?

Tom: It was me Denise.

Denise: What do I always say about putting things away? Now Anna, it says here 'Were there any injuries?'

Anna: So I'll write...'Yes, member of staff broke his arm.'

Denise: Sprained his arm. I think he'd be in more pain if it was broken, hey Tom?

Tom: What? Err, yeah. It still hurts though.

Denise: Hmm! Now finally it says 'What can be done to avoid this accident again?'

Anna: Get rid of the mice... I mean rats?

Denise: No. Store things away properly and keep the office tidy, eh Tom?

Tom: Yeah I suppose so... but I was only trying to catch that mouse.

Denise: I know, very heroic. I'm starting to see what Anna sees in you, you know.

Tom: Oh no, Anna, our dinner date!

Narrator: 今天可真够忙得了。 Anna 填好了意外事故汇报的表格。 如果你工作的地方也发生了意外，那么你可能会被问到以下类似的问题。

How did the accident happen?
What was the cause of the accident?
Were there any injuries? And:
How could the accident have been avoided?

Narrator: 看来 Anna 和 Tom 的晚餐约会要被取消了，这可正和她的心愿。

Anna: Hey Tom, don't look so glum. I'm up for dinner if you still are.

Tom: Ouch... really?

Anna: Sure Tom, and as you've only got one arm you won't be hugging me all the time.

Denise: You'll have to spoon feed him his food too!

Tom: Denise, is that ambulance here yet?

Narrator: Denise 你可得注意了，别到时候你也发生意外。Anna 和 Tom 的约会看来最终没受影响。我很期待着他们的会面，不知道能听到点儿什么！See you again soon. Bye!
